

Empowering Students with Knowledge and Skills in the Financial Markets

BHM Capital Hosts University of Sharjah Students for a Comprehensive Training Day

UAE, Dubai, January 14th, 2025.

As part of its commitment to strengthening partnerships with academic institutions in the UAE, BHM Capital, the leading financial institution in the capital markets of the United Arab Emirates, hosted a comprehensive training day for students from the Department of Finance and Economics at the College of Business Administration, University of Sharjah. This initiative aimed to expand their knowledge, develop their skills in financial field, and introduce them to the wide range of career opportunities available within the financial markets and the broader financial services sector.

The training day that was held at BHM Capital's headquarters in Dubai, included a series of educational lectures and training workshops delivered by experts from the company. The students also participated in a guided tour of the company's offices and departments, where they learned about the roles performed by each department, received answers to their questions about work processes, and explored the technologies and innovations the company employs in trading across local, regional, and global markets.

Alaa Dwekat, Deputy CEO of BHM Capital, emphasized the company's commitment to supporting economic and social growth, as well as enhancing the academic experience of local university students. He highlighted the company's dedication to developing students' skills and abilities across various financial disciplines, contributing to the graduation of a new generation of innovative individuals who can make a meaningful impact in their communities and deliver world-class financial services with excellence and professionalism.

Dwekat stated: "Hosting these students at BHM Capital's offices is a significant milestone for our senior leadership team, as these young talents represent the next generation of leaders in the financial services sector across the UAE and the region. By supporting and developing their capabilities, we are not only investing in the future of financial markets but also ensuring a consistent supply of skilled human resources needed by the sector, especially with the anticipated expansion of market activities in the near future.”

The training day provided students with insights into financial market regulations, account opening procedures, trading mechanisms, market analysis and research fundamentals, public offerings, brokerage operations, trade management, and other modern financial concepts.

BHM Capital is dedicated to investing in youth by offering suitable training and professional opportunities that empower them to engage more actively in business sectors and drive economic growth. The company views this as part of its responsibility to the UAE community and its contribution to bridging academic knowledge with practical experience. Through this initiative, BHM Capital creates pathways for students and graduates to pursue careers that align with their ambitions, while also addressing the dynamic needs of the labor market in the UAE and the broader region.
